ACCESS THREATS

WHERE CAN NOX PROTECT?

THREAT \ 1

The house is set away from the main road. As with most homes of this type this leaves them vulnerable, due to the fact they are away from the public eye and consequently away from the protection of passers by and would be onlookers. This allows for criminals and trespassers to go freely about their business, without the worry of being seen.

THREAT \ 2

The rear of the property backs onto another house and has a small access road that runs to the back wall, the road feeds houses behind it.

THREAT \ 3

Regular patrols around the property would be conducted to deter any criminals. All round camera coverage would be beneficial and if required patrols inside the grounds would also be carried out to check for signs of intrusion.

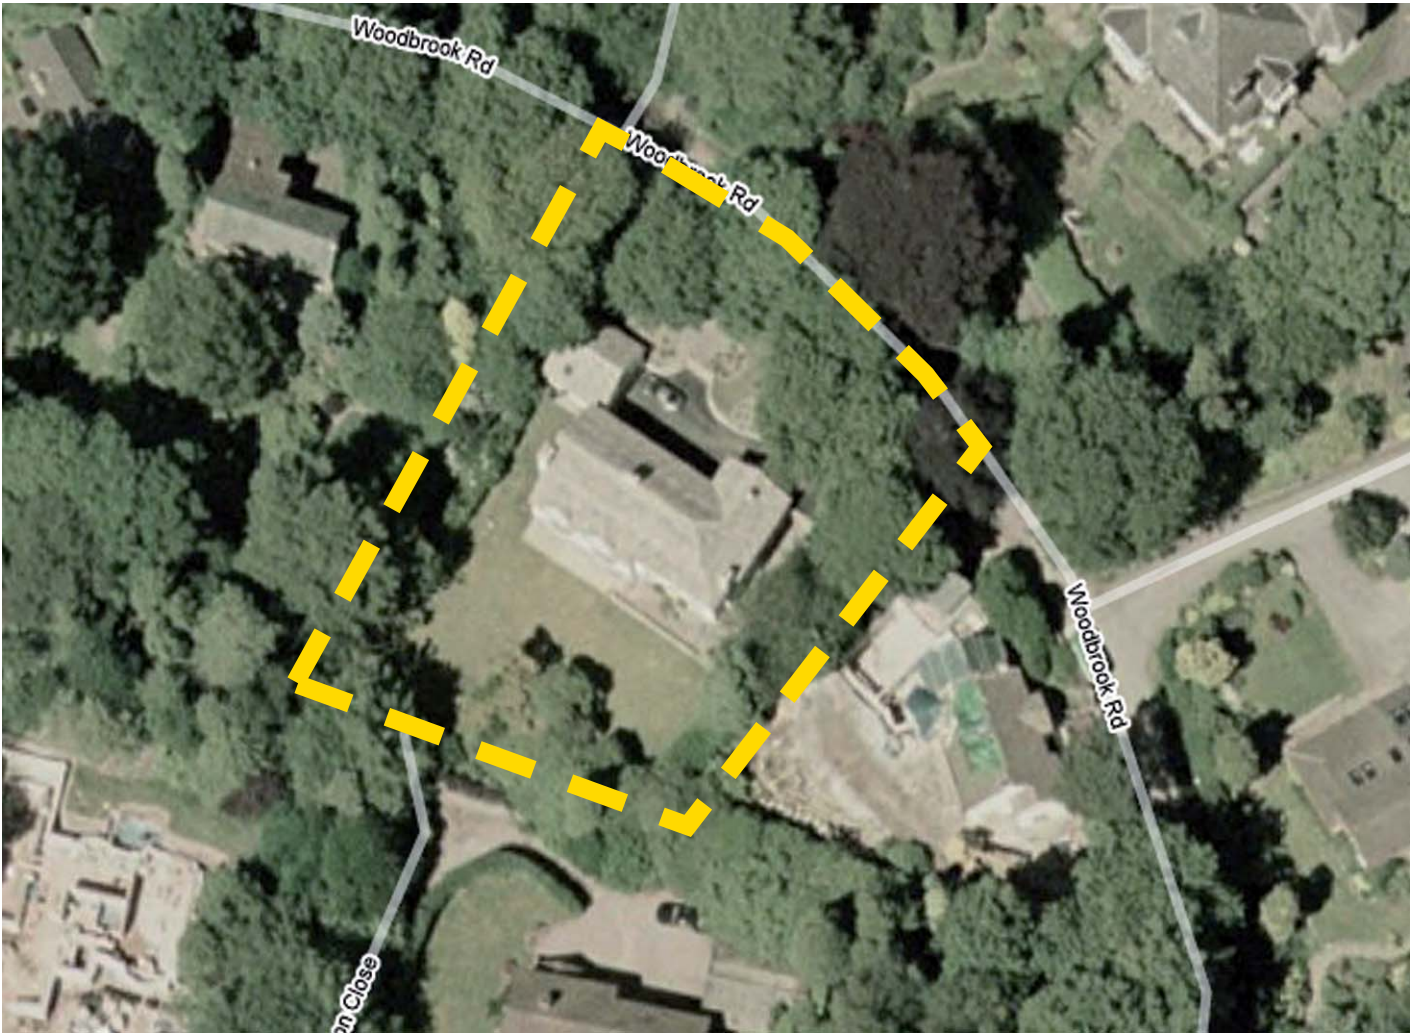

PROPERTY THREATS

WHERE CAN NOX PROTECT?

THREATS \ 1&2

As with homes of any size they are obvious targets for theft as they contain computers, televisions, jewellery, antiques, memorabilia, cash and a whole host of other things. In some instances the criminals actually come with the intention of taking the cars!

The problem facing the larger homes is the perception that they will contain many more of these items and most of it will be of an exceptional quality.

BOUNDARIES

BOUNDARIES

The house is not in open land and as such does not have large boundaries to cover, there is a reasonable garden to the rear and it is walled around the sides and front. It's boundaries begin on the small access road and end at the neighbours drive. In the case of larger properties or homes that are set alone in open grounds the principal remains the same, thorough patrols around the boundaries to be conducted each time the property is visited.
